The Green Revolution was a period that began in the 1960s during which agriculture in India was converted into a modern industrial system by the adoption of technology, such as the use of High Yielding Variety (HYV) seeds, mechanised farm tools, irrigation facilities, pesticides and fertilizers. Major milestones in this undertaking were the development of high-yielding varieties of wheat and rust resistant strains of wheat. However, the long-term effects of green revolution have been analysed by environmental activists like Vandana Shiva who are of the opinion that it caused greater environmental, financial and sociological problems for the country like droughts, rural indebtedness and farmer suicides.

Jackson's Island was a small island in the Mississippi river. It was about three miles south of St. Petersburg. No one lived on the island. 'Huckleberry Finn can come with us too', said Tom, 'Remember Joe, don't tell your mother, father or anyone about our adventure. Go home and bring some food. We'll meet here at midnight.' Tom and Joe were excited. At midnight the three boys met on the river. Tom brought meat to eat. Joe brought some bread and Huck brought a frying pan. They found a small raft and they went down the river to Jackson's Island. When they arrived on the island, they made a fire and cooked some meat. 'This is fun!' said Joe. 'We're free and we can do everything we want!' said Tom. 'What do pirates do?' asked Huck. 'They go on ships and take money. Then they go to an island and hide it in a safe places, said Tom. The three boys were happy and slept under the stars.
